Chronicle Office over Pickering & Ely's Store.
Subscriptions must invariably be paid for in ADVANCE.

Last Saturday evening the long expected event of lighting the city with gas occurred. About 6 o'clock the first lamp was lighted, and then, one after another, their illumination followed till the whole town was brightly lighted. All of the stores, too, and many private houses, were lighted with gas, and the general effect of the illumination was very fine. Mr. Charles White, the Superintendent, tells us that no difficulty at all was found in starting the works, and everything went off like a charm. Some of our fine storehouses looked beautiful, among which we may mention our friend Farmer's as a fine specimen.

There are now laid two miles and a half of street-pipe, running on Main, Franklin, Commerce, Madison, Front, First, Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth streets, and all around the public square. The lights on Front street illumine the entire city wharf, that street running upon the upper line of the wharf, and the lamps being on the lower side of the street. The number of private consumers is now estimated at about one hundred, using between six and eight hundred burners.

The completion and successful starting of our gas works, and the first lighting of the streets, may be regarded as a decided era in our history. These things constitute another and a very important step towards the dignity and importance of a real city.

We, in common with many other advocates of the go-ahead and progressive spirit, have often had to deplore what we have thought was the want of enterprise and public spirit in those of our citizens, who, being wealthy, or possessed of other means of advancing the growth of our city and its business, seemed to pull backward rather than forward, and to retard rather than to advance, that growth. Too many of our citizens have been too slow to draw back to our interests, and some are yet so; but we are glad to know that such a spirit is fast disappearing before the march of progress and Young America. A chosen few in our midst have always fought the spirit of old-foginess, and worked and contended manfully for progress and advancement. For two or three years this contest between the advocates of Stand-still and those of Go-ahead went on earnestly, and for a time the issue was doubtful, but finally it was decided in favor of our best interests—the old fogies gave way, and the spirit of young America triumphed.

The consequence has been a constant and healthy growth of our city, alike in its trade, and population, and geographical extent—no expansion of our ideas, and, in a word, our sudden assimilation to the ways and the appearance of a goodly city.

Among others who thus put their shoulders to the wheels of our mixed town, years ago, and, by their active exertions and enterprising spirit, gave a new and a strong impulse to our commercial interests, two men, still worthy citizens here, deserves particular mention. These men are JOHN K. and C. H. SURRIS. They are well known to almost every man who ever lived to look to our town for a market for any of our agricultural products. We know that they would naturally shrink from this public mention, but we believe they deserve it, and we will risk a little shock to their modesty in subjecting them to it. They commenced life without any of the extraneous advantages that wealth confers, and possessed only of such a good name and indomitable energy. Their exertions and their success are so well known that we need not now dwell upon them. Suffice it to say that in a few years they attained a high position and unusual credit among commercial men, both here and abroad; and, enjoying large monetary facilities, they were enabled to institute and carry out those large business operations which have done so much to call forth and develop the immense resources of the country around us. Their operations in the purchase of produce have embraced every staple of the country about us; and the liberality which they have always shown in trade is known and acknowledged by all. The holder of any of our products will nearly always find a purchaser in one of the Smiths, and always at as high price as the market for it will possibly justify. A glance around our town will tell, in some measure, what they have done for it. We find them the active proprietors of large warehouses, tobacco-stenneries, flouring-mills, and pork-houses, in all of which a heavy business is annually done, and through the combined operations of which hundreds upon hundreds of thousands of dollars are scattered through the country. We honestly believe that, through the agency of these two men, the business and trade of Clarksville has been precipitated by ten years—that, without what they have done for it, it would not have attained, in ten years longer, what it now may boast. And while they have thus done for the town, we are glad to know that they themselves have reaped a handsome fortune from their labors; and, while doing it, have preserved their reputation for probity and fair-dealing untarnished. In all the uncertain events of speculation and trade, and through all the vicissitudes of monetary affairs, they have never failed to meet their engagements fully and promptly; and out of the memorable crisis of 1857—that time that tried men's solvency so thoroughly—when so much solicitude and friendly interest was felt for the issue as to them and others—out of that they trial they came unhurt, and without reproach; and to-day they stand among the first and foremost of our acknowledged leaders of trade.

We have said this much of the Messrs. Smith simply because we believe all of it, and even more is due to them for the benefits they have conferred upon our city and the country around in the prosecution of their business. While we say this much for them, as a tribute justly due, we do not wish by any means to under-rate or forget the advantages that have been brought upon us by others. We speak thus prominently of the Smiths because the benefits that have accrued to the community through them, and the impulse they have given to the growth of our city and the advancement of its trade, are so palpable and self-evident. Long may they live and prosper in the enjoyment of their well-earned fortune and reputation!

Next Sunday, at 11 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Sawrie designs to preach, at the Methodist Church, on "The Scriptural character of revivals of religion, as recognized by that Church, both as to its manner and spirit." The seats are all free, and the public invited.

John W. King, Agent, will sell Thirty-two lots, at the Junction of the Clarksville and Henderson Railroad, on the 8th inst. These lots vary in size from one to twenty-three acres. This is a fine chance for persons to secure a home in the contemplated town of Kingsdown. Take a ride on the cars and examine the premises.

The attention of our readers is called to the subjoined order of exercises at the Presbytery Church, on Wednesday, the 7th inst.

Dr. Edgar, one of the most finished preachers, Dr. Mitchell, of renown, and other distinguished speakers, will be present—which assures a rich and rare treat.

The great advantage of, and interest in, the lecture, will draw out a large crowd. Be sure go early, so as to secure seats.

EXERCISES OF THE DAY.

The Trustees, Faculty and Students, will assemble at the College at 9 o'clock, and proceed to the Presbyterian Church under the direction of the Marshal.

At 10 o'clock the sermon will be preached by the Rev. J. T. Edgar, D.D., of Nashville. The keys of the College will then be held to the President by A. Robt. Egan, on behalf of the Trustees; after which the Rev. R. B. Menden, D.D., President of the College, will deliver his inaugural address.

At 6 o'clock the audience will again assemble at the Church—the Trustees occupying the front of the pulpit, the Faculty the left, and the Students the right. The exercises will begin with prayer, followed by prayer; after which the Faculty will be addressed by Rev. W. H. Bell, D.D., of Florence, Ala. He will be followed by Rev. J. S. Frierson, of Mount Pleasant, T., in an address to the Students.

The Rev. A. L. Kline, of Nashville, will then address the Trustees, and will be followed by address to the Citizens by Rev. J. S. I., of Nashville, Tenn.

This is the day appointed for the bag of old John Brown for his foray upon Harper's Ferry. He will not doubt, suffer, to-day, the extremity of the law, though some doubt of this fine his life will be entertained by many until thall know that it has taken place.

Cook, Cope, Green, and Copeland are after the death-penalty on the 16th inst., and will be closed their illegit life, if they have not done anything more commendable than their exit in Virginia. Their fate is a sad and melancholy one, but one that is their own deserve, and we pity may have the good effect to teach all their sympathies to let us and our negroes. Their interference only makes the negroes happy, and endangers their own neck-joints.

The Jeffersonian says that Mr. S. Green, editor of the Hopkinsville Mercury, will give a short course of lectures here, commencing in the next ten days. Mr. M. has a good reason as a literary scholar, and learned and loved writer, and his lectures will doubtless prove both entertaining and instructive.

P. S. Since the above was in type, we are authorized to say that Mr. Mercer will lecture, on Thursday night, next, subject, "An Anti-Slavery Statement." We hope the citizens of Clarksville will give him a large audience. The lecture will be delivered in Fowler's Hall—take 25 cents.

SHAKESPEARE AND HIS FRIENDS.—We have received from the Comopolitan Art Association, New York, the splendid engraving of "Shakespeare and his friends," which is printed on heavy plate, 30 by 38 inches, making a superb ornament to the library or parlor. Any person can become a member of the Association by subscribing $5, which will entitle them to the Art Journal and magnificent picture—in addition to many valuable works of art, as premiums.

Address C. L. Derby, Actuary C. A. A. & S. 548 Broadway, New York. Subscriptions received by C. O. Faxon, Hon. Secretary for city.

TIMBERED LAND FOR SALE.—By reference to another column it will be seen that Col. N. Allen is offering 500 acres of timbered land. This land is situated near Cumberland River, about four miles above this city. It is well adapted for raising Tobacco, Wheat and Corn, and enough timber on it to pay for it two or three times. He also owns a landing above high water mark. Any person wishing to make a speculation in better examine it immediately.

Mr. Brimingham's lecture, on "Civil Liberty," was delivered, pursuant to announcement, at Fowler's Hall, on Tuesday evening, to one of the largest audiences we have ever had there. His strictures upon "ecclesiastical tyrants" were very severe, and he showed himself in most in all he said. His remarks were frequently applauded, and the audience seemed very well pleased, throughout.

See the advertisement of K. Melton.—He is receiving the largest and most select of Confectionaries he has ever brought to market. He has toys of every description for Christmas presents, and every variety of fire-works, together with the choicest tobacco for chewing and smoking, and, in short, everything in his line that the public may require. Country dealers will do their interest to call and examine his stock.

Prof. Dolbear, who has long enjoyed a high reputation in his profession, arrived in a city, a few days ago, and will commence very soon with a class in Photography and Penmanship. Accomplishment in these arts is highly important, and should be acquired by all. Persons desiring to join the first class should apply at once. Prof. Dolbear is stopping at the National Hotel.

The class in Photography commences 7 o'clock on Friday night. The class in Writing begins at 8 o'clock on Saturday morning, room over city Confectionary.

Read the advertisement of real id personal estate of W. W. Warfield, the sale of which comes off on the 13th inst. This is one of the most valuable and well improved farms in Montgomery county. There are also 10 negroes to be sold at the same time, and a great deal of other property. If you wish a bargain, attend this sale.

Rev. Dr. McMillen, of Stewart College, will preach, in the Baptist Church, in New Providence, on Sabbath next at 11 o'clock, A. M.

We are again placed under obligations to Mr. Elinore for files of late papers, as is prepared to furnish the public with any publication they may want.

We learn from the energetic President of the Paradise Hill and Clarksville Turnpike Co., that the work on that road is all under contract and progressing finely.

Any person wishing to purchase a good room and house servant, can have an opportunity of procuring such, by applying immediately at this office. Price low, and terms easy.

T. D. Leonard, Real Estate Agent, offers several fine farms for sale. Persons wishing to buy anything would do well to consult him. See his advertisements.

Mr. Editor: If Mr. L. G. Williams will consent to let his name be used as a candidate for Mayor of this city, he will be supported by

MANY VOTERS.

THE RAILROAD IN HENRY COUNTY.—President Quarles, of the Memphis, Clarksville and Louisville Railroad, recently visited the town of Paris, Henry county, for the purpose of procuring, if possible, a subscription in aid of construction of the Railroad from Paris to the Tennessee River. He addressed a large crowd of the citizens of the county, and got up a very excellent state of feeling in regard to the enterprise, and from the last Paris Seminal, we learn that the subscription is rapidly filling up, and that the amount asked for will soon be raised.—Jeffersonian.

For the Chronicle.

To the Citizens of Montgomery County.

I was called upon, some time since, to become a candidate for the office of County Court Clerk of your county, which call I accepted, and announced my name as such. But since that announcement I have been induced to accept a situation in the well-known house of Macne & Conter; at the same time remembering the deep interest my friends have taken in my behalf. I have done this because I think it best in a pecuniary point, hoping you will, under the circumstances, pardon the course I have taken.

And now permit me to return my warmest thanks for the manifestations of kindness I have received at your hands since I have been a candidate, trusting that you will find some one that will serve you as well as I would have done had I been elected.

I remain your obedient servant,
G. W. LEIGH.

Land for Sale.

Of the best 900 acre farms in the country, lying miles East of Clarksville, on the Port Royal road owned by Pleasant Bagwell. There are 325 acres cleared, 125 of which is first quality Red River bottom land, 40 acres now in corn, the balance 15 or 20 to 30, and 100 in clover. There are 15 acres in timber, more than enough to stand to twice pay for the place, besides a large amount of fine Poplar for sawing or making Shingles. There are at least 300 acres of hickory and white Oak, and 40 acres of Chestnut. The place is well watered, and well adapted to the Wheat, Stock and Tobacco business—convenient to market, mills, church, schools, society, &c., and the healthiest location in the country.

This is every necessary building on the place, such as residence, tobacco barns, stables, ice-house, cistern, fine spring, plenty of good fruit, &c. I will either sell the land at once, or divide it into 3 or 4 equal parts, with no interest, and a lien retained until the purchase money is all paid.

See advertisement of Mr. Bagwell's other farm on the Clarksville Turnpike. I live there both to sell at a great bargain.
